Each of the university’s nine colleges and schools is a hub of excellence in scholarship, research, and real-world learning. Also central to Northeastern are the Department of Athletics and Recreation and University Libraries, incubators of leadership and boundary-stretching physical and intellectual challenges. Collectively, they are inspiring our community to test limits and build strengths, and to enact groundbreaking ideas that shape Northeastern and our world.

Northeastern invites your participation and support as our colleges, schools, and initiatives strive to fulfill their ambitious missions—along with their bold, yet attainable, objectives.

College of Professional Studies
College of Social Sciences and Humanities
Athletics and Recreation
University Libraries