Bouvé College of Health Sciences
The Bouvé College of Health Sciences is rising to meet longstanding and emerging healthcare challenges confronting our global community. We are inspiring future generations of healthcare leaders, and generating and disseminating new knowledge for the betterment of health and healthcare for people worldwide.

At Bouvé, we are establishing and growing endowed scholarship funds for undergraduate and graduate students pursuing nursing, pharmacy, counseling and applied psychology, health science, physical therapy, physician assistant studies, speech-language pathology and audiology, and health informatics. We are creating an endowed research fund—one that provides resources for early-career faculty on a competitive basis. And we are establishing professorships in areas of excellence identified by the dean.

Join us in advancing Bouvé’s internationally acclaimed healthcare education, world-class research, and diverse experiential learning opportunities.
The Bouvé College of Health Sciences is rising to meet longstanding and emerging healthcare challenges confronting our global community. We are inspiring future generations of healthcare leaders, and generating and disseminating new knowledge for the betterment of health and healthcare for people worldwide.

At Bouvé, we are establishing and growing endowed scholarship funds for undergraduate and graduate students pursuing nursing, pharmacy, counseling and applied psychology, health science, physical therapy, physician assistant studies, speech-language pathology and audiology, and health informatics. We are creating an endowed research fund—one that provides resources for early-career faculty on a competitive basis. And we are establishing professorships in areas of excellence identified by the dean.

Join us in advancing Bouvé’s internationally acclaimed healthcare education, world-class research, and diverse experiential learning
To learn more about supporting the Bouvé College of "Northeastern is an international leader in higher education innovation, and the university offers the perfect home for research, teaching, and public engagement that addresses urgent global health needs. Bouvé is poised to partner with the university's other colleges to provide cross-disciplinary leadership in all aspects of health and healthcare at this critical juncture in the nation's history."

—Carmen Sceppa, Dean
j.trapp@northeastern.edu