Building on our global business expertise and achievement in use-inspired research, the D’Amore-McKim School of Business is recruiting the world’s best, most forward-thinking students and business faculty. And by expanding our entrepreneurial ecosystem, we are nurturing an innovative mindset across Northeastern’s nine colleges and schools.

Now, the school is creating next-generation, experiential, “hybrid” learning models—in person, online, and around the world—to deliver cost-efficient professional executive education for lifelong learners and leaders.

Talented students. Facilities designed to anticipate the future. And dynamic centers of research and discovery. Your support helps us continually redefine business—and business education—for students and professionals now and in the future.

Building on our global business expertise and achievement in use-inspired
It is an amazing honor to lead the D’Amore-McKim School of Business. It is going to be a fun and exciting ride as we continue our rise among the world’s elite business schools.

—Raj Echambadi, Inaugural Dunton Family Dean

research, the D’Amore-McKim School of Business is recruiting the world’s best, most forward-thinking students and business faculty. And by expanding our entrepreneurial ecosystem, we are nurturing an innovative mindset across Northeastern’s nine colleges and schools.

Now, the school is creating next-generation, experiential, “hybrid” learning models—in person, online, and around the world—to deliver cost-efficient professional executive education for lifelong learners and leaders.

Talented students. Facilities designed to anticipate the future. And dynamic centers of research and discovery. Your support helps us continually redefine business—and business education—for students and professionals now and in the future.
To learn more about supporting the D’Amore-McKim School of Business, contact:

Deborah Magnezy
Assistant Dean of Development
617.373.5023
d.magnezy@northeastern.edu